Ready-made Clothes

YOU know how it is; many men, even when they wear ready-made clothes, feel that they'd really be better off if their clothes were made-to-order. Thousands of low-priced "custom" tailors exist to-day wholly on this ancient prejudice; many thousands of men annually have their clothes "made-to-measure" at about the cost or a little higher cost than fine ready-made, on the theory that they're getting "something better;" paying tribute to the tape line "fetish."

The correct view of it

But you'll find now many men who make no apology, even to themselves, for wearing ready-made clothes; they think they're better clothes. Well, they're right; and the others are wrong. It wasn't always so, but it's so now. Your tailor can't produce, at anywhere near the price, as good a suit of clothes as you can buy, ready-made, of any clothier who handles Hahn Bros. clothes.

The best argument of all

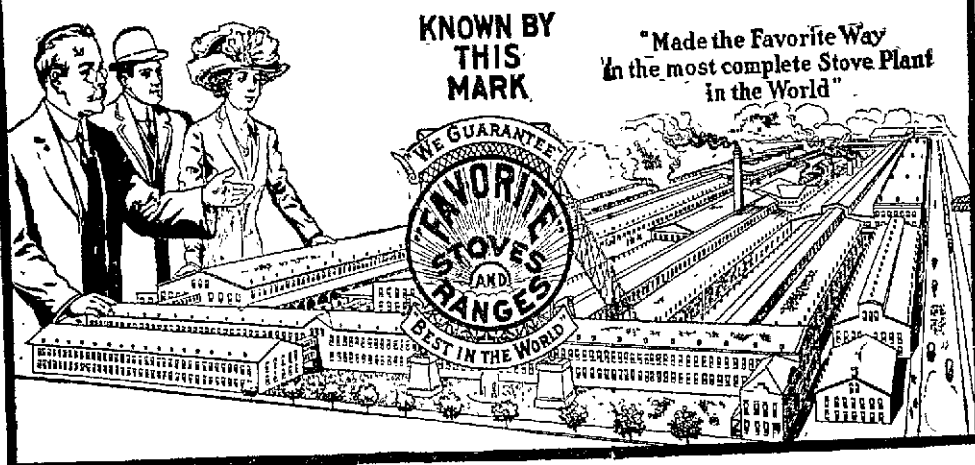

The old arguments—money-saving; time-saving; seeing the clothes finished and on you; knowing about fit, and style, and becomingness before you pay your money;—these are all good arguments for ready-made clothes.

But the best argument now is the quality; ready-made clothes are better—in style, in tailoring, in quality of materials, in fit—than ninety-five per cent of so-called "custom-tailored" clothes; ready-made clothes like ours are the standard by which to measure the "custom-tailored product; the situation has been reversed by our goods.

The prices are easy; $18 and upward

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETS

The officers of the Wood County Agricultural Association met Saturday with the local bankers to perfect arrangements for the University Corn and Dairy School to be held here Dec. 2 to 6. Rooms will be rented down town for lectures and laboratory work including milk testing, the curing of seed corn, stock judging, etc., etc.

Those present at the committee meeting were Robt. Morris, Otto J. Lea and Simon Worland representing the officers of the Association, and Guy O. Babcock, E. M. Pense and E. B. Redford representing the local banks. F. M. M. Jackson who has charge of enrollments for the University was also present, and Inspector W. E. Larson was invited to speak to the committee. It is rumored that the "minutes" of the meeting included some fried chicken, mashed potatoes, rutabagas, cranberry sauce, cake, pumpkin pie and other evidence of agricultural thrift, and that the knowledge of this helped to secure a full attendance of the committee. The dinner feature took place in the Art room at the County Normal with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson as host and hostess.

In the afternoon a large number of enrollments for the Agricultural School were taken from among the School Board members.

Too Much Fire Water.

An Indian brave by the name of Joe Harris got sozzled on Saturday afternoon, and mounting his trusty steed started to give an exhibition in rough riding that threatened to put Buffalo Bill's will west show on the blink. It seems, however, that those of our citizens who witnessed the performance did not appreciate the show as much as they might have done, and Officer Howlett was notified of the affair and he went to the east side market square to arrest the belligerent red man.

When too red man discovered that the officers of the law were on his trail he started to leave town on his pony and he evidently thought he would soon be in the wilds of the town of Grand Rapids with everything his own way. This is where he made a mistake, however, for Mr. Howlett secured an auto at Huntington's garage and started in pursuit.

An Indian pony is a pretty primitive method of travel compared with the modern automobile and it was not long before the officer of the law was within range and he took a few shots in the direction of the fleeing brave to induce him to stop. Instead of stopping he took to the woods, the pony doing some fine hobnobbing, but it was no use and Joe was finally captured and brought back to town.

When arraigned before Justice Pomaillville he pleaded guilty to the charge of resisting an officer and the judge made it thirty days in jail.

The corn crop this year on the Northwest Collegiate Institute farm was unusually good. The Wisconsin No. 8 variety was a perfect crop and ready for harvesting early in the season. Mr. Agnew, the President has already received a number of orders for seed corn from those in the community and others at a distance. A large sale is looked for to be so well done, having proved to be so well adapted to the Northern climate. The school farm also had a good crop in general and a very excellent garden, and will bring the top of the market, most of which have already been sold. This school attracts a nice class of students from a wide circle. Having the self-help department, those of small means have a splendid opportunity to help meet their expenses, with their own hands. Most of the students of last year returned again in September. The year has opened up encouragingly at no time in the history of the institution has it been so prosperous. It continues to meet a needed and large field never before occupied in this vast region. Students are prepared to enter our best colleges. It has a faculty well qualified, some having graduated from some of our strongest institutions of learning both in the east and west.

The Sherry Basket Ball team plays the Northwest Collegiate Institute next Saturday evening in Sherry village. Both teams expect a hard contest.

We are very glad to welcome Dr. J. H. Whitney back to Sherry. He was very successful in his profession when in our midst in past years.

FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Roy Kammerer Killed by being Struck by an Auto While on His Way to Supper.

A fatal accident occurred at the corner of Ninth and Baker Streets shortly after six o'clock on Saturday evening, the victim being Roy Kammerer, who was on his way home from work on his motorcycle. The motorcycle was struck by the T. E. Mullen automobile, Roy being thrown from his wheel and striking the curb, fracturing his skull in such a manner that he died from his injuries within an hour.

Roy has been employed the past summer as chauffeur by T. E. Nash, and made his trips to and from work on his motorcycle. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Mullen were returning from Stevens Point, where they had been to witness the football game. The car was being driven by Ray Mullen and they had stopped at the Kammerer home only a few minutes before he was killed. Catherine Kammerer, who had been to the Point with them.

At the point where the accident occurred the auto met a team with a hay rack and Roy came along behind this, going in the same direction. As he turned to the left to go around the rig the auto came into view and as he did not have time to go to the right of the auto, he continued on his way to the left, apparently with the intention of going between the automobile and the curb. This he was unable to do, however, and the motorcycle was struck and Mr. Kammerer thrown against the curb with great force. Howard Mullen was riding on the front of the motorcycle with Mr. Kammerer, but he was thrown across the sidewalk and escaped with only a few bruises.

Roy was at once picked up and taken to his home and medical assistance summoned, but it was impossible to do anything for him, and he died in about an hour, without regaining consciousness.

It was a most deplorable accident, but one that might happen at any time after dark, as all concerned were observing the rules of the road.

Frank LeRoy Kammerer was born in this city on the 31st of May, 1882, and was therefore 30 years of age at his last birthday. He has been interested in mechanics all his life and for a number of years past has worked in the capacity of professional chauffeur, and during the past summer has been driving for T. E. Nash. He is survived by his mother and sister Catherine who have the sympathy of the community in their loss.

The funeral occurred on Tuesday morning from SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church, Rev. Wm. Rading conducting the service.

FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Roy Kammerer Killed by being Struck by an Auto While on His Way to Supper.

A fatal accident occurred at the corner of Ninth and Baker Streets shortly after six o'clock on Saturday evening, the victim being Roy Kammerer, who was on his way home from work on his motorcycle. The motorcycle was struck by the T. E. Mullen automobile, Roy being thrown from his wheel and striking the curb, fracturing his skull in such a manner that he died from his injuries within an hour.

Roy has been employed the past summer as chauffeur by T. E. Nash, and made his trips to and from work on his motorcycle. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Mullen were returning from Stevens Point, where they had been to witness the football game. The car was being driven by Ray Mullen and they had stopped at the Kammerer home only a few minutes before to let out Miss Catherine Kammerer, who had been to the point with them.

At the point where the accident occurred the auto met a team with a hay rack, going in the same direction, and the rig the auto came into view and as he did not have time to go to the right of the auto, he continued on his way to the left, apparently with the intention of going between the automobile and the curb. This he was unable to do, however, and the motorcycle was struck and Mr. Kammerer thrown against the curb with great force. Howard Mullen was riding on the front of the motorcycle with Mr. Kammerer, but he was thrown across the sidewalk and escaped with only a few bruises.

Roy was at once picked up and taken to his home and medical assistance summoned, but it was impossible to do anything for him, and he died in about an hour, without regaining consciousness.

It was a most deplorable accident, but one that might happen at any time after dark, as all concerned were observing the rules of the road.

Frank LeRoy Kammerer was born in this city on the 31st of May, 1882, and was therefore 30 years of age at his last birthday. He has been interested in mechanics all his life and for a number of years past has worked in the capacity of professional chauffeur, and during the past summer has been driving for T. E. Nash. He is survived by his mother and sister Catherine who have the sympathy of the community in their loss.

The funeral occurred on Tuesday morning from SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church, Rev. Wm. Rading conducting the services.

Death of Geo. A. Corriveau.

George Andrew Corriveau, one of the old residents of this city, died at his home on the west side on Friday morning about seven o'clock, death being due to heart failure.

Mr. Corriveau had been in rather poor health for several years past, but has been able to be about town most of the time until about a week before his death, but during that time he was able to be about the house, and was sitting in a chair when the fatal summons came.

Mr. Corriveau was 84 years of age having been born on the 4th of February, 1828, at St. Valier, Canada. He left Canada, coming to the United States and in Rochester, New York. He lived there until 1892 and during this time engaged in the railway contracting business. When he left New York state he came to Wisconsin and soon after located in Centralia, which is now a part of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Corriveau was a millwright by trade and followed this occupation for a number of years after coming here, and then in 1897 he went into the mercantile business and during the 32 years that he followed this he built up one of the most prosperous establishments in the city. In 1893 he sold out his business and retired from active business.

He was married on December 14, 1858, to Miss Adeline Otey, and to them nine children were born, four of whom survive, they being Mrs. Selma Fritzinger of this city, Joseph A. Corriveau, a traveling salesman who makes his headquarters at Chicago, H. B. Corriveau, secretary of the Wabash Pulp & Paper Co., of Sartell, Minn., and Miss Blanche Corriveau, who makes her home with her parents.

Mr. Corriveau was a man of great energy and vitality, and even during his declining years was about town every day. He was a devoted husband and an affectionate and devoted father and a good citizen in every respect, one of the pioneers who helped to make Grand Rapids what it is today.

The funeral was held at 10 o'clock Monday morning from SS. Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Rading officiating.

THE CAT'S USEFUL WHISKERS.
We are apt to think that the cat's ability to see in the dark is due entirely to its eyes, but competent authorities assure us that the feline's power in this respect is due almost entirely to its whiskers. These delicate hairs that project from the muzzle of the cat family are wonderful mechanisms, says Harper's Weekly. Each one grows from a follicle or gland, served to the utmost sensibility. Its slightest contact with any obstacle is instantly felt by the animal, though the hair itself may be tough and insensitive. The exaggerated whiskers on the muzzle often project to such a distance that from point to point they indicate the exact width of the body of the beast. Consider the lion standing through the jungle at night in search of prey. When the least stir of a twig gives alarm, the lion's whiskers indicate through the nearest branches, any object that may be in his path. A touch stops him short before pushing through some close thicket where the rustling leaves and branches would betray his presence. Wherever his head may be thrust without a warning from the whiskers there his body may pass noiselessly. It is the cat given him by his whiskers, in conjunction with the soft cushions of his feet, that enables him to proceed as silently as the snake.

The hour of dining has advanced with the centuries. Frogsport mentions waiting on the table of Lancaster at five in the afternoon after he had napped and was about to go to bed, and the queen of the Neoplatonians shows that at four o'clock in the morning, from the Northumberland Household Book, dated 1512, we learn that the royal family rose at six, breakfasted at seven, dined at ten, supped at four, and retired for the night at nine, says the London Chronicle. Louis XIV. did not dine till 12, while his contemporaries, Cromwell and Charles II. took the meal at one. In 1700 the hour was advanced to two; in 1751 we find the duchess of Devonshire dining at three, and in 1790 Cooper speaks of four o'clock as the fashionable time. After the battle of Waterloo the dinner hour was allowed to six, from which time it has advanced by half-hour stages to eight. So that in 400 years the dinner hour had gradually moved through at least ten hours of the day.

American habits and customs, especially American clothes, are apparently becoming fashionable among Germany's young men. Young Germany no longer contents itself with the sartorial fashions of the Fatherland, says the London Answers. "The exaggerated authority suits of American cut and manufacture please them better, and most of them are never more than a quarter of a mile away from a tailor who is an expert in the German clothes have, in consequence, been obliged to lay in large stocks of American clothing to meet the growing demand.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF COL. ROOSEVELT

Former President Shot by Man at Milwaukee.

BULLET IN RIGHT BREAST

Colonel Delivers Speech at Auditorium Despite Injury—Surgeons at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, Decide Not to Remove Bullet at Present.

MILWAUKEE.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the right breast by a would-be assassin just as he left the floodlighted auditorium on route to the Milwaukee hotel, where he was to address a mass meeting.

The colonel's life, in all human probability, was saved by the manuscript of his speech and by other papers which he carried in the inside pocket of his undercoat.

The bullet, passing through overcoat, coat, manuscript, vest, and other clothing, penetrated the body, but how deeply is not known.

Despite the wound, despite the blood that was flowing freely, the colonel insisted on fulfilling his engagement with the people of Wisconsin.

Col. Roosevelt introduced the colonel and told the crowd what had happened.

When the colonel arose to speak there was tremendous cheering. He drew his manuscript from his coat pocket and started to read it.

He pointed out the bullet hole to the crowd and said, "You see it takes more than that to kill a Bull Moose."

As the colonel opened his coat and vest it was seen that almost the entire right side of his shirt was covered with blood. He said that if it had not been for the manuscript he had in his pocket on that side he would have been killed.

The colonel's physical strength, however, was not equal to his courage, and when half way through his speech he had to stop.

Col. Roosevelt was taken to the emergency hospital, placed on the operating table, and six physicians made an examination of the wound.

They found that the bullet had penetrated the right breast, but that it had not been for the manuscript he had in his pocket on that side he would have been killed.

Col. Roosevelt left here for Chicago Monday night, arriving there about 3:30 a. m. He was taken at once to a hospital, where a number of prominent surgeons examined his wounds.

The doctors decided not to attempt to remove the bullet at present, but to wait until the wound had healed.

Col. Roosevelt will be taken to the hospital for further treatment.

The colonel's physical strength, however, was not equal to his courage, and when half way through his speech he had to stop.

Col. Roosevelt was taken to the emergency hospital, placed on the operating table, and six physicians made an examination of the wound.

They found that the bullet had penetrated the right breast, but that it had not been for the manuscript he had in his pocket on that side he would have been killed.

Col. Roosevelt left here for Chicago Monday night, arriving there about 3:30 a. m. He was taken at once to a hospital, where a number of prominent surgeons examined his wounds.

The doctors decided not to attempt to remove the bullet at present, but to wait until the wound had healed.

Col. Roosevelt will be taken to the hospital for further treatment.

GIANTS THE RED SOX

NEW YORKERS TAKE SEVENTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES, 11 TO 4.

SCORED SIX IN FIRST ROUND

Wood Is Given Terrific Bombardment—Tearau on Easy Street—Doyle Gets Homer in the Sixth, Scoring Two Runs.

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 17.—The Giants by outslugging, outturning and outconquering their enemy here Tuesday, brought the world's series to a neck-and-neck race when they seized the seventh battle, thus making the count three and. The score was 11 to 4, the largest total of the series.

Joe Wood, who tamed the New Yorkers twice in his previous appearances, opened for the Red Legs, and the game was practically over when he left the box at the end of the first round. Wood's curves were easy; his steam was lacking. He couldn't get the ball by. His baffling delivery, which had bewildered individuals a week ago, was now a desperate individual's joke. Those desperate individuals played with his best slants, and the damage at the conclusion of the spasm was six runs.

Tearau pitched for the Giants. He hurled a good game, but had a rout of the first inning not transpired his performance would have been still greater.

In the first part of the sixth round Doyle brought a four-inch smile to the features of Muggsy McGraw, and increased the gloom pervading the stands. Devore was up next to speed him. He was given a base. Up came Doyle and smash went the ball with both runners streaking if around the low path. Devore beat Doyle out by a neck, and both scored.

The Score.

WHY NOT ELECT WOODROW WILSON
Chicago Post, Influential Republican Paper, Asks Its Readers a Leading Question.

FRAUDS OF PRESENT REGIME

Says the Tariff Has Been Too High for a Generation, and Must Be Lowered.
The Chicago Post, an influential independent Republican newspaper, propounds this question to Republicans: "Why not Wilson?"
"This question is addressed particularly to Republicans.
"Governor Wilson suits the Democrats down to the ground, suits all Democrats who are worthy to be called Democrats. But in an emergency like this, why should not Wilson, suit a large part of the Republicans as well?
"Why not Wilson?
"Governor Wilson is a thoroughbred American gentleman, not only in the accident of birth, but in his every ideal, impulse and principle. That ideal, impulse and principle of every presidential candidate.
"Dan McKersher is a tried and trustworthy executive. His brilliant record as governor of New Jersey proves that.
"Governor Wilson is an eminently sane and sensible man. He is an eminently honorable man. He has dignified every place which he has held. He has performed a splendid public service by lifting the present campaign out of the mire of mudslinging with which Roosevelt began it.
"In every personal characteristic, Governor Wilson is equipped to be a Republican president, without regard to whether that man is a Democrat or a Republican. What, then, of his political qualifications?
"Governor Wilson is, and always has been, a sensible Democrat, but he is not and never has been a silly, violent partisan.
"Governor Wilson stands for honesty and efficiency in federal administration. So do all save those who profit by graft and inefficiency.
"Governor Wilson stands for the curbing of trusts and monopolies. So do all, except monopolists and their defender, Theodore Roosevelt.
"Governor Wilson stands for a prompt and steady downward revision of the tariff. So do nine-tenths of the people of the United States.
"Governor Wilson believes in a more radical tariff revision than do a large number of the rank and file of Republicans. But Governor Wilson is the only candidate who if elected will permit the revision of the tariff at all.
"The tariff has been too high for a generation. Is it not better to take a chance at getting it too low—according to Republican standards—than to let the known frauds of the present regime continue for another four years to rob the public?
"Why not Wilson? He will give an honest, dignified, capable and efficient administration. He will restore the constitution. He will see that the tariff is revised downward. He will curb trusts. He will serve the people.
A Threatening Evil in the High School.
Under the above caption, Professor M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin, writes an editorial in the September number of Wisconsin Journal of Education on the subject of smoking by high school students. He starts out by saying:
"Smoking is developing in our high schools at an alarming rate. It is a threatening evil of immense proportion. Can the high schools deal with it effectively? And they have solved the problem and solved it properly? Can they solve this one? Certainly the evil of smoking is vastly greater than any other with which the American high school has had to deal in recent times. To solve it means an heroic, determined and prolonged struggle."
Professor O'Shea calls attention to the use which can be made of the anti-cigarette law and the opposition which may be encountered on the part of those financially interested and urges that educational associations should get busy and drive the evil day.
Will, who has been operating a steam threshing outfit during the past season, states that they have about finished up their work for this fall, and that the grain crop has pretty generally been first class.

WHY DR. WILEY IS FOR WILSON
He Says Taft and T. R. Are Soldiers of Fraud.

ENEMIES OF PURE FOOD LAW

Famous Chemist Believes the Health of the Nation Demands Election of the Democratic Ticket.
By HARVEY W. WILEY.
(Former Chief Chemist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.)
My appeal is chiefly to those who, like myself, have been lifelong Republicans. I believe that no kind of an administration is going to ruin the country. I have a high personal regard for each one of the candidates for president and vice-president on all the tickets. All the political platforms are mainly sound and all promise effort in behalf of the whole people. My choice is not based on a platform. It is determined by my impressions of the real attitude of the candidates toward the public welfare. We are spectators of hereditary and environmental evils. In our attitude towards great public questions we are almost altogether creatures of environment.
What two men are by environment least likely to be swayed by special interests and most likely to be guided by devotion to public welfare? Two of the candidates have already been of the presidential chair and we know by experience what may be expected if either of them resume his former seat on March 4, 1913. Mr. Roosevelt by reason of his attitude toward the consumers of the country toward the rapidly of a few mercenary manufacturers. Under authority of congress I had carried on extensive experiments with my so-called poison squad and found that certain substances, viz., benzole compounds, sulphurous compounds and sulphate of copper (blue stone), were injurious to health.
The law conferred upon me, as chief of the bureau of chemistry, the duty of acting as a grand jury and determining whether foods and drugs were adulterated or misbranded. Instead of appealing from my decisions, the users of these poisons appealed to President Roosevelt. He not only listened to them, but he abrogated the plain provisions of the law, appointed a board not contemplated by the law, and decided that these predatory interests might continue their attacks on the health of the people until this board, unknown to the law, should decide otherwise.
Can we safely trust the campaign for public health to Mr. Roosevelt? I cannot believe that to be the proper course. Mr. Taft inherited this enormous burden of corruption and has not from his predecessor and has not only continued this illegal board under whose patronage adulterators are still poisoning the people, but he did worse. In the matter of the adulteration of distilled beverages in which Roosevelt upheld the legally constituted authorities, Mr. Taft reversed that policy and threw the mighty weight of the executive office to the support of the worst lot of adulterators that ever disgraced a country.
Mr. Wilson and Mr. Marshall by their strenuous efforts in behalf of the food laws of their respective states, have given a positive promise to end such a threatening state of affairs. They will support the law who are trying to protect the public health and will make short shrift of those who have brought about these present unbearable conditions.
Wilson and Marshall by their education and environment are free from bias in favor of predatory interests and are inspired by true patriotic zeal in behalf of public welfare.
I suppose that many of the prominent Democrats in congress have been in full sympathy with the policy of the food law in behalf of the public health. But when the Democratic president and vice-president lead the aid of their powerful sympathy in behalf of the public health instead of the efforts of the public health to protect the efforts of the packers to sell diseased meats under the deceptive phrase "U. S. Inspected and Passed." Under President Wilson no more Pinchots will be kicked out of the service, no more unspeakable McCabes will exercise dictatorial powers. There will be no more cotton leaks and jungle atrocities, no more Everglade swindles. Buccaneering, boasting and buccaneering will give place to sane efforts for the promotion of real agriculture and the public health.
Under Wilson the department of agriculture with the State Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations, and the State officials will no longer be regarded as inferior beings, living only on the largess of a Washington cabal. I ask all who want honesty and faithful service in the Department of Agriculture, the promotion of public health, the protection of the environment favorable to that which makes for the public welfare, to vote for Wilson and Marshall.

—Grand Rapids theatregoers will be greatly pleased to learn that Manager J. E. Daly, of the Daly Theatre, has been able to secure Mackill & MacVitty's elaborate production of "The Divorce Question" for a return engagement Thursday, Oct. 31st. On account of the extremely warm weather, the production did not receive the patronage it merited upon its former production here in August. Those who did see the play were so pleased with it, and so many requests were made of Mr. Daly to secure the play and company for a little later in the season, that he immediately took up the matter with the producers, and, as stated above, arranged for its re-appearance here Oct. 31st.
The same play and production enjoyed a remarkably long run at McKivier's Theatre, Chicago, during the past summer, and has been a big success during this, its initial road tour. Seats will be ready. Advertisement.

wrote to a prospective builder, "Bring in your bill!" and the fellow brought around a goat.
It gets my goat how any one can have the nerve to lay bets and even offer odds on the coming presidential unpleasantness. With five tickets in the field, each a strong puller, I figure it out that this is a good season to pass up the bookies.

You won't have to see rabbit hunting this fall for there are practically none to hunt. There is a disease among them that is killing them off very rapidly and where you could see dozens last year you won't see one this year. Since the middle of the summer you could find dead ones all over the woods and now you can travel all day and not see a live one. It was about ten or twelve years ago when they had a similar disease.

ALLAN LORD, eleven year old son of Irving Lord, president of the Waukesha street railway company, is dead as the result of the accidental discharge of a gun at that place Sunday afternoon. Together with a playmate Allan had been target shooting with a twenty-two caliber rifle, and on their return at about 5:30 they had one cartridge left. The story goes that they got into a friendly argument as to who should fire the shell and started wrestling with the gun in the hands of one. In some way the weapon was discharged and the ball lodged in the Lord boy's head just behind one of the ears. He died in about an hour.

Frank and Lester Pascoett, who had been in the vicinity of Hancock picking potatoes, returned home on Friday.

You won't have to go rabbit hunting this fall for there are practically none to hunt. There is a disease among them that is killing them off very rapidly and where you could see one this year you won't see one this year. Since the middle of the summer you could find one on all over the woods and now you can find all day and not see a live one. It was about ten or twelve years ago when they had a similar disease.
